Marc Soccio joined Rabobank Food & Agribusiness Research and Advisory in January 2010, as the senior analyst responsible for food, wine and horticulture.

Rabobank's Food & Agribusiness Research and Advisory (FAR) team is charged with analysing developments in food and agricultural markets and industries, and advising the bank and its clients on strategic implications for their businesses. Comprised of a network of some 80 analysts spread across every major production and consumption region of the world, FAR is a central component of the bank's capacity for informed credit decision making, product development, advisory services, and strategic client partnerships.

Marc has a strong food and agribusiness sector research background within viticulture, wine, horticulture and associated processing industries covering Australia and the United States.

Prior to joining Rabobank, Marc spent a brief period working in wine operations in addition to five years as an agribusiness investment analyst and advisor where he developed a strong understanding of a range of agricultural markets, value chains, and the financing and operating requirements of agricultural businesses. Marc also has knowledge of many of Australia's major irrigation districts and has consulted to state and local government on the economic development needs of regional communities.

He holds an Commerce Honours degree from the University of Melbourne, a Graduate Diploma in Oenology from the University of Adelaide, and is currently studying for a Masters of Business Administration at Melbourne Business School.

Please contact Marc on +61 3 9940 8437 for further information on Rabobank's Food & Agribusiness Research and Advisory.
